Tried Many, Found the Best.

Powerful assaults were delivered there this morning.

(American troops are standing south of the Aisne, along with the French.)

The Germans have made another retirement of from one to two miles on a seven-mile front north of St. Mihlel.

This retreat was carried out between Rezonvaux and Chatillon (In the district immediately southeast of Verdun). French patrols are in touch with the enemy there.

According to information received early this afternoon, the new American line now runs past Tresauvaux. Soul-en-Woevre, Wadonville-en-Woevre, Thillon, Hattonville, St. Benett, north of Dampeltoux weed and Jauliny. From that zone the fighting front runs to Norroy, not to Pagny, as was reported last night.

(Norroy is about four and a half miles south of Pagny, but both are alimest on the German frontier.)

There is nothing better if one desires an old-fashioned, harmless physic—gentle in action, yet thoroughly cleansing in effect. J. P.
